

Virginia Prepares for 2025 Elections: Key Dates and Voting Information

RICHMOND, Va. — As the Commonwealth of Virginia approaches a critical election year, voters across the state are preparing to cast their ballots in several important races, most notably the gubernatorial election to be held on November 4, 2025. This election will determine the state's next governor, along with the lieutenant governor, attorney general, and all 100 seats in the House of Delegates.

The 2025 election cycle began with primary elections on June 17, 2025, where voters selected their party's nominees for statewide offices. All registered voters were eligible to participate in these primaries, which included contests for the Democratic and Republican nominations for governor, lieutenant governor, and attorney general.

Key dates for the general election include a voter registration deadline of October 14, 2025. Voters who miss this deadline may still register and cast a provisional ballot through same-day registration at their polling place on Election Day, November 4, 2025. Polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Election Day.

Virginia voters have multiple options for casting their ballots. Early in-person voting began on September 20, 2025, and continued through November 1, 2025. Voters could also request absentee ballots by mail, with applications due by October 28, 2025. Completed mail-in ballots must be postmarked by Election Day and received by the local registrar's office by noon on November 7, 2025.

Voters can verify their registration status, find their polling place, and view sample ballots through the Virginia Department of Elections Citizen Portal. The portal also provides information about accessibility accommodations for voters with disabilities.

The gubernatorial race has drawn significant attention, with candidates from both major parties vying to lead the Commonwealth for the next four-year term. In addition to the gubernatorial contest, voters will elect a lieutenant governor and attorney general, both serving four-year terms, as well as members of the House of Delegates serving two-year terms.

Local elections for city councils, school boards, and other municipal offices will also appear on ballots across the Commonwealth, making this one of the most consequential election years for Virginia voters.

For more information about voter registration, polling locations, absentee voting, and other election-related questions, visit the Virginia Department of Elections website at www.elections.virginia.gov.